

A photograph of a paved road, likely asphalt, showing a transition from a darker, textured surface on the left to a lighter, smoother surface on the right. A concrete curb runs along the top edge of the road. A green metal guardrail is visible behind the curb. Large, dark shadows of trees and foliage are cast across the road surface. In the bottom foreground, there are some green and reddish-brown weeds. A date stamp is visible in the bottom right corner.
